I. Course Information

Instructor Information:
Instructor: Mercer L. Sullivan, Ph.D., Professor
Email: mercer.sullivan@rutgers.edu
Phone: 973-353-5931
Office Hours: Mondays and Thursdays, 2:15-3:15, or by appointment.

Course Overview:
This course introduces an examination of the field of criminology. Major topics include definitions of, and the basic assumptions that are used to formulate, criminological theories. Causes of crime and crime rates, United States and international comparisons, and a review of the current direction of research within the study of crime are also discussed.

Prerequisite: None
B.S., Criminal Justice Program Learning Goals

Upon completion of the B.S. in Criminal Justice at Rutgers University-Newark, students should be able to:

1) Describe the development and functions of major criminal justice institutions (e.g., police, courts, corrections, and juvenile justice), the activities of actors within these institutions, and how they relate to one another as well as the broader social, political, and economic world.

2) Describe the mechanisms, correlates, theoretical underpinnings, and situational contexts of crime, criminal behavior and opportunity, and techniques for prevention and treatment.

3) Apply and analyze theories related to the policies and practices of the criminal justice system and its major institutions.

4) Demonstrate the ability to gather, explain, and apply empirical research in the field of criminal justice.

5) Obtain a comprehensive knowledge about the process of conducting criminal justice research, and develop the skills to conduct criminal justice research with appropriate methodologies.

Course Learning Objectives:

Learning Goals for Introduction to Criminology

1. Describe how crime is defined and measured.
2. Articulate the major theories that explain criminal behavior, and the principal research findings associated with each major theory.
3. Critically examine crime and deviance as social constructs and evaluate the effects that societal response to crime has on criminal behavior.
4. Recognize diverse methods of data collection and the challenges of researching crime and deviance.

Required Readings:

• All readings for the course are either on Blackboard or contained in the required published anthology:
  • Available from the Bradley Hall bookstore or by mail order
    ▪ A copy is on reserve in the Don M. Gottfredson Library of Criminal Justice, in the Rutgers Law Library in the Center for Law & Justice. You may not check out this copy, only in-library usage.
  • These additional readings may be updated at any point during the term. Any changes will be made at least one week in advance of the scheduled class
You are expected to read all assignments before coming to class. Failure to do so will make it difficult to do well on the examinations and impossible to participate competently in the recitation sections.

Course Requirements:

Blackboard
- Will used for several purposes in this course, so please check it regularly. The syllabus and many reading assignments will be posted on Blackboard. Additional assignments may occur as the semester proceeds and will be announced in class and posted on Blackboard.
- You are responsible for everything posted on Blackboard, whether or not it is mentioned in class.

Preparation:
- Preparation for class is important and will affect your grade. In either lecture or recitation sessions, if you ask questions appropriately and offer comments that show that you have read and thought about the assignments, this will have a positive effect on your grade.
- If you talk inappropriately during class without being recognized by the instructor, this will adversely affect your grade.
- Other discourteous behavior such as talking on cellphones, texting (sending or receiving) and the like will also have an adverse effect. The only appropriate use of electronic communication devices in the classroom is to receive emergency communications; if this happens, step out of the room quickly and explain to the instructor afterward. Everyone is expected to respect others in the class by not distracting from the business at hand.
- Active participation in class discussions is not required in lecture session, although it is encouraged and can have a positive effect on your grade.
- In recitation sections, active participation is expected and required. Lack of active and appropriate participation in recitation effects will have a negative effect on your grade.
- Class participation grades are posted and updated constantly on Blackboard and you are advised to check regularly. They can be plus or minus. If you notice a minus number, you may want to speak to one of us so that we can work with you to correct the situation.

Course Structure:

Course Structure:
- The course content is divided into 2 basic sections:
  - I. Criminological Theory
  - II. Crime Typologies
- Course-time content is arranged into discussion-based lectures and occasionally documentary viewing.
  - Students attend both lectures and their recitation meeting, weekly.
- Two exams will cover the course material:
  - Mid-Term Exam will cover section I. Criminological Theory
  - Final Exam will cover section II. Crime Typologies
II. Course Schedule

The topics for each lecture are listed in the table below. The specific assigned readings are listed on Blackboard under “Course Documents.” Most of the readings for the first part of the course are in the assigned book of readings edited by Cullen and Agnew. Additional readings for the first half of the course and all of the readings for the second half of the course are posted on Blackboard. The lecture and assigned readings will also be the basis for discussion in the Friday recitation sections.

III. Course Assessment and Grading

• The course grade will be the weighted average of exam grades and recitation section grades, adjusted for participation scores.
• The exam grades count for two-thirds of the weighted average and the recitation section grades count for one-third.
• Participation points are then added (for positive participation) or subtracted (for negative participation) from the weighted average.
• There are two grading periods, the first ending at the mid-term exam (P1), the second at the final exam (P2).
• The final course grade is an exact average of the grades for the two periods.
• You can check how you are doing at any time by going to the "My Grades" section of Blackboard.
• Attendance is recorded there but does not affect grades directly; attendance may affect grades indirectly in either a positive or negative direction by affecting the Participation points.
• All of the assignments and exams are designed to assess all of the course learning objectives listed above.

Grades represent the level of quality of a student's performance in this course. The following grading scale will be used for individual assignments, and for the final course grade:

- A 90–100%
- B+ 85–89%
- B 80–84%
- C+ 75–79%
- C 70–74%
- D 60–69%
- F <60%

The final course grade will be assessed based upon performance on the following weighted components:

P1:
- Participation % points may be added or subtracted to P1 grade
- Recitation 1/3 of P1 grade
- Mid-Term Exam 2/3 of P1 grade

P2:
- Participation % points may be added or subtracted to P2 grade
- Recitation 1/3 of P2 grade
- Final Exam 2/3 of P2 grade

Final Course Grade: Average of P1 and P2 grades
ATTENDANCE and PARTICIPATION: A significant percentage of your grade is based on class participation and attendance.

Participation:
- Your participation grade will reflect your level of involvement in class discussion and in-class activities. A large portion of each class session will be devoted to discussing the assigned readings and applying what we have learned to different images and texts.
- All students are required and expected to participate.
  - Participation includes asking questions, making comments, completing in-class work and written assignments, etc.
- Active participation demonstrates that you are doing the assigned reading, and thinking critically about the issues raised in class.
- Participation can be a negative score due to absences, lack of participation, or disruptive or discourteous behavior – especially phone use.
- Laptops and tablets are permitted for note taking and referring to readings during class, and is strictly monitored.
- Computer or phone use outside course matters is disruptive and discourteous, and will not be tolerated.
- Note: Attendance alone does not constitute participation.

Attendance:
- Attendance is expected and required. Attendance will be taken at each session.
- The attendance requirement applies equally to lecture and recitation sections.
- Notification of absences should be emailed to Course Administrator Estee Marchi.

EXAMS (MID-TERM AND FINAL) (2/3 OF WEIGHTED COURSE AVERAGE):
- The Mid-Term Exam will be delivered during class session (Thursday, March 2nd) and is closed to books and other materials.
  - The Mid-Term Exam will cover material presented in the first part of the course.
- The Final Exam will be delivered during exam week (Tuesday, May 9th 11:45AM-2:45PM) and is closed to books and other materials.
  - The Final Exam will cover material presented in the second half of the course, and is non-cumulative.

Late or Missing Exam Policy:
- Make-ups are only rarely permitted.
  - And then only with proper documentation, and at the convenience of the instructor.

WRITTEN ASSESSMENTS (RECITATION):
- Written assignments may occasionally (and unannounced beforehand) be given in recitation, to be completed through Blackboard.

Late or Missing Assignment Policy:
• Late recitation assignments are accepted up to 24 hours after the due date, and are then closed permanently – no exceptions.
• All late recitation assignments are penalized 20 points – no exceptions.

IV. Course Policies

Classroom Rules

All students are expected to behave courteously at all times. Use of electronic devices is only permitted for purposes of making notes relevant to this course.

Academic Integrity

As a member of the Rutgers University community you are not to engage in any academic dishonesty. You are responsible for adhering to basic academic standards of honesty and integrity as outlined in the Rutgers University Policy on Academic Integrity for Undergraduate and Graduate Students http://studentconduct.rutgers.edu/academic-integrity

Your academic work should be the result of your own individual effort, you should not allow other students to use your work, and you are required to recognize and reference any material that is not your own. Violations of the university’s policy will result in appropriate action.
