Course Overview:

47:202:222 Constitutional Issues in Criminal Justice (3 credits)
This course examines the practices and procedures of the United States of America through the application and critical analysis of the nation’s Constitution. Particular attention is paid to how the Bill of Rights is interpreted by courtroom actors, and how this interpretation results in the setting of precedence. Discussion of how constitutional precedence reverberates in the criminal justice policymaking world, as well as specific analyses of important judicial opinions, trials, and congressional investigations are covered in this course.

Criminal Justice Learning Goals:

Upon completion of the B.S. in Criminal Justice at Rutgers University-Newark, students should be able to:
1) Describe the development and functions of major criminal justice institutions (e.g., police, courts, corrections, and juvenile justice), the activities of actors within these institutions, and how they relate to one another as well as the broader social, political, and economic world.

2) Describe the mechanisms, correlates, theoretical underpinnings, and situational contexts of crime, criminal behavior and opportunity, and techniques for prevention and treatment.

3) Apply and analyze theories related to the policies and practices of the criminal justice system and its major institutions.

4) Demonstrate the ability to gather, explain, and apply empirical research in the field of criminal justice.

5) Obtain a comprehensive knowledge about the process of conducting criminal justice research, and develop the skills to conduct criminal justice research with appropriate methodologies.

Required Readings:

Relevant readings will be assigned throughout the semester

Course Requirements:

The course relies heavily upon the chapters in the book. The mid-term and the final exam questions will be based primarily upon the textbook and class discussion. Attendance and class participation will be factored into your final grade. Student teams will be created for the purpose of conducting oral presentations.

Course Structure:

Interactive lectures are based upon the textbook chapter, moot court style arguments and power point presentations. Class attendance AND participation is required. Three or more unexcused absences’ will impact your final grade.
